Profit or loss from a business on Schedule C. If you had a small business, please bring in your summarized financial statements by category. If you had the business on last year's tax return, you probably have a good idea of which categories you use. Our website has short articles and guides to use regarding self-employed income. Every situation is different, but here are the small business expenses we typically see on a tax return:

More Common Categories	Less Common Categories	Note: The 2025 standard mileage rate was $0.70/mile. This is often a better deduction than the actual expense method for a business vehicle (gas, insurance, repairs, tabs, maintenance, etc.).
